

In the days of mankind's beginning the sons and daughters of the land knew the value of each day of life.
and they rejoiced for each blessing.

